Huddle is a dynamic workspace designed around you and your work lifestyle

At Huddle we understand the workplace is more than the 9 to 5. It is a space for fresh thinking, new ideas and pushing boundaries.

That is why our workspaces have been carefully and thoughtfully designed around how you and your team operate, ensuring your working day is as effective as possible.

Our flexible approach to workspace means that whatever your requirements we are here to help, from start-up to scale-up (or scale down) and beyond.

Life at Huddle

Whether you are looking for a desk to rent by the hour, a more permanent coworking destination or a beautifully designed private office, Huddle has a space for everyone.

Spread across two floors at 3 Shortlands, Huddle's large windows provide bright and airy workspaces with plenty of natural light and uninterrupted views across the London skyline.

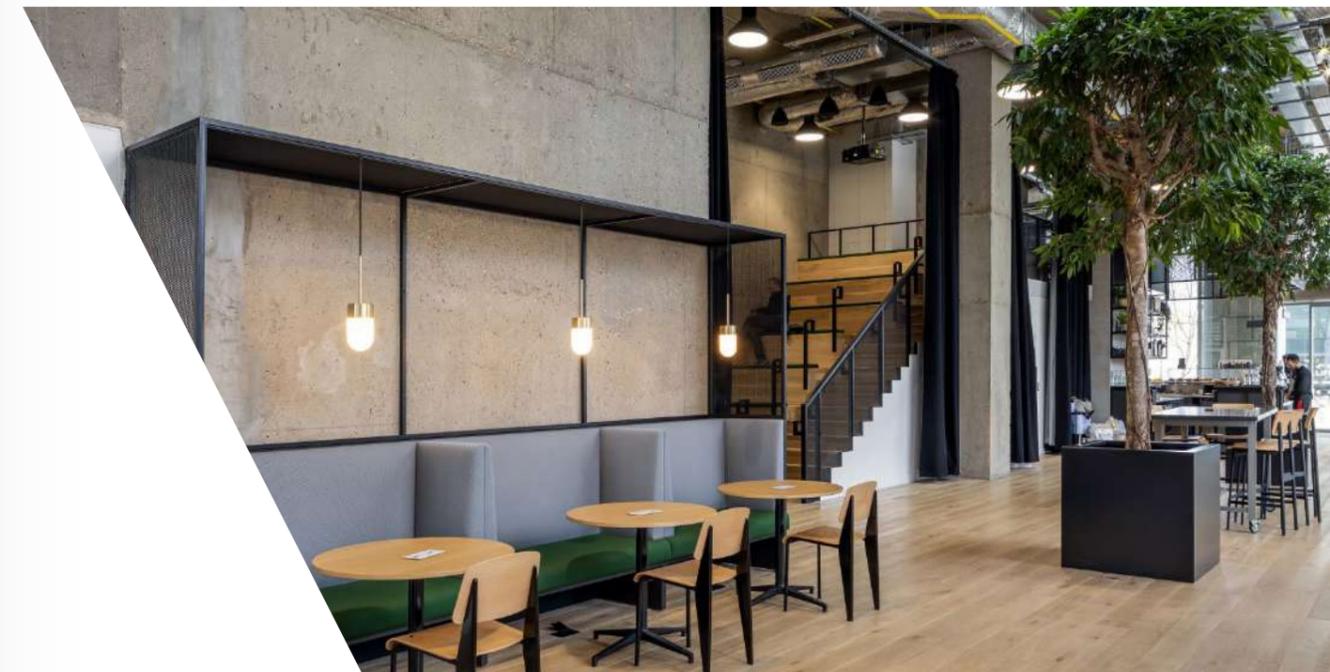

Meeting rooms and boardrooms are available to book through an online portal, our library offers a calming space for deep work and there is access to a large outdoor terrace.

A 45-seat tiered auditorium is available to hire for private events and catering can be provided by our in-house barista café located on the ground floor.

“Huddle is built to help businesses grow and thrive. Regardless of how small a business is starting out, Huddle is engineered for how big they endeavour to become.”

Manish Rungta, Caelum Capital

Our Community

We love nothing more than when Huddle members come together to collaborate.

For us, this is the ethos of a workplace community and we are proud of Huddle's reputation as a friendly and welcoming workspace.

Members have access to a calendar full of regular events held across the year, helping you and your team grow both professionally and personally.

There is access to free in-house professional business support as we understand running a company has its challenges.

Each year we also commission local artists to produce works of art to be hung throughout Huddle, creating a bright and inspiring space for you to enjoy.

“Our UK company offices are here, and we love it! Huddle has a modern fresh look with lots of space to work and plenty of break out. Regular activities create a real sense of community within a shared working environment too.”

Joanna, Forum Business Training
